Germans Lose 60,000 Troops in Leningrad Sector; Red Losses Are Third Less

Defense Is Riddle

Nazis Say Soviet Plan of Defense Baffles Experts

By ROGER D. GREENE (Associated Press War Editor)

The German armies, diverted from the immediate siege of Stalingrad, were reported counterattacking furiously on their imperiled northwest flank along a 40mile front between the Don and Volga rivers today, but the Russians said they had beaten off five assaults and entrenched to hold their gains.

Official Soviet quarters declared the Germans had lost 60,000 troops against Russian losses of 21,384 in a battle on the Leningrad front, south of Lake Ladoga. German claims of having wiped out seven Red Army divisions and captured 12,370 troops in fighting around the long-besieged northern metropolis were branded by the Russians as "a new fake of the Hitlerite counterfeiters . . . a lie from beginning to end." Instead, the Germans suffered nearly 5-to-1 in manpower losses. as well as 200 tanks, 260 planes, 244 guns and 400 trench mortars, a Soviet communique said.

Inside Stalingrad, the battle flamed with apparently unabated

After more than 36 hours, there was still no indication that Nazi assault troops were being withdrawn, leaving the field to Stuka dive bombers and big siege guns to blast the metropolis into surrender. The German radio intimated Thursday that this would

Soviet headquarters said Russian troops had crushed two more attempts by tank-led German riflemen to break through to the Volga—apparently in a northeast factory district, site of the great Stalin tank works—and wiped out a company of Nazi infantry.

The Russians also declared that a Red Army force encircled for several days had escaped the German ring after a hard battle and had taken up defense posts in a nearby workers' settlement. Strong, Sober, but Scout Executive Minus Bride-to-Be, Goes Back Home

"I guess I over-celebrated," said Wilder Strong, 29, of Gloversville, who had lost both bride-tobe and his automobile in Kingston when he insisted on having "just one more drink," Friday evening. Strong faced Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court today charged with public intoxication.

There are many stories of a bride being deserted at the church door, but this was the first time that a story had been unfolded in police court where a groom had been abandoned at the tavern door, and Judge Cahill after hearing Strong's story decided he had been punished enough and imposed a suspended sentence.

It developed that the bride-tobe is now safe home again while the police had charge of the automobile, which they had parked in the rear of the city hall, and Douglas A. WORKING

It begins to dawn on observant people that this present-day life is changing right under their eyes, in all sorts of ways. Rather suddenly there seems so much to do. It shows all the way from grandpa down to the children. Everybody works now in some way or other, and the more active people have many jobs.

There is a new attitude about things, amounting almost to a new mode of life. People do not think or talk about it-they just act, and get busier and busier. Loafing, which used to seem so attractive and ideal, and all the ingenious ways of time-wasting that accompanied the loafing life, are losing their charm. Rich spendthrifts who seemed so lucky and glamorous are not envied any more, but pitied. People crave action in rational and useful ways. Even those idle or sporting rich, when you really look around for them, are not much in evidence any more. They seem to be vanishing, or going into various kinds of useful service that make them indistinguishable from active people who have worked all along.

What does all this mean? Perhaps it means that a careless and happy-go-lucky nation has finally settled down to realization that it has a tremendous job to do, and come hell or high water-which indeed are already visible—the job is going to be done. Here at last is a task and an opportunity worthy of this nation. And greater even than the task is the spirit in which it is tackled.

It's not only old iron that is being melted down now in the junk furnaces. A lot of other stuff, not material but no less real, now. goes into the fire. Any thoughtful person, with a little historic imagination, could make an interesting list of guesses.

The French Revolution a century and a half ago was the first great upset of modern operation. times. Anyone who reads Carlyle's book on that theme gets a vivid sense of what that event meant in the upsetting of old forms and ways of life and government, in new ways of thinking, in new ideas of man and modes of government and human relations in general. The change seemed to be confined first to one country, and then to a small group of countries, but its influence spread throughout the western world.

The present war, virtually covering the planet and affecting all nations at once, should have far greater effects on people's thought and behavior, and the changes should come far more quickly.

FREE HEALTH LECTURE____ Dr. Carr Miller will give his popular lecture "Golden Secrets of Health" at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street, near Broadway, NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 14. That will be his birthday. He has made a life study of health problems. The clergy and physicians of the city have been invited as special guests.

Rev. O. R. Miller, D.D., of Albany, twin brother of Dr. Carr Miller, will be a special guest of honor. He will speak briefly of his long work as a moral reformer.

Six nationally known medical authorities have read the manuscript of Dr. Carr Miller's health lecture and offered valuable suggestions for it.

If you are interested in your health, don't miss this lecture. It's stirring facts mingled with wit and humor make it highly entertaining and richly informing. Small children not invited. ADMISSION FREE, but a free will offering will be received.

Miss Skinner Is

Miss Skinner Is

Daughter of Stage

When an aspiring college girl once sought out a famous drama critic and asked what she should to get on the stage, the distinguished reviewer, eyed the would-be actress over his glasses and replied, "Choose for one or both of your parents a celebrated star of the last generation." Cornelia Otls Skinner who comes to Kingston, October 21, fulfilled to the maximum the critic's injunction. She is the daughter of the late Otls Skinner and Maude Duranth, both stars of the American stage. More than that, Miss Skinner has gone on to success in the late Otls Skinner who up until his last year was known as the dean of the American theatre, did not always take to the idea of its daughter's going on the stage. In fact, Miss Skinner reveals that ather debut, a painful effort in school theatricals, Mr. Skinner after the final curtain, remarked in a stage whisper heard by overybody, "Well, she certainly hasn't a ray of talent, thank God."

does she give her order direct to the waiter?

Answer: Usually in an a lacarte restaurant, the lady tells the gentleman what she would like, and he orders, because it is very simple to do this since a la carte portions are large and she is not expected to order more than two or three dishes; whereas, at a table d'hote portions are very small and one is expected to order a number of items—too many to be easily repeated from person. In any restaurant where the items are written by the patron on a slip, the host always writes the order for his guest.

This Advice, Was Not Mine!

This Advice; Was Not Mine! Dear Mrs. Post: Why is it proper to wear an evening dress in church at a wedding? I should think a dress cut out low far more Answer: I do not know where you read or heard this advice, but it was not mine! In fact I feel very strongly about the impropriety of a woman's uncovered head in church and still more strongly about a low-cut dress. In my own descriptions of evening dress at a church wedding, I have always written a "seni-evening" dress—meaning one with a long skirt and a jucket or otherwise with sleeves and very moderately cut out neck.

The ban against the uncovering of a woman's head is lifted at weddings in certain southern communities, but even there, most women of taste wear something that takes the place of a hat, such as a diadem, or flowers or other ornament, and counteracts the effect of a bare head.

WORKING

It begins to dawn on observant people that this present-day life is changing right under their eyes, in all sorts of ways. Rather suddenly there seems so much to do. It shows all the way from grandpa down to the children. Everybody works now in some way or other, and the more active people have many johs.

There is a new altitude about things, amounting almost to a new mode of life. People do not think or talk about it-they just act, and get busier and busier. Loafing, which used to seem so attractive and ideal, and all the ingenious ways of time-wasting that accompanied the loafing life, are losing their charm. Rich spendthrifts who seemed so lucky and glamorous are not envied any more, but pitied. People crave action in rational and useful ways. Even those idle or sporting rich, when you really look around for them, are not much in evidence any more. They seem to be vanishing, or going into various kinds of useful service that make them indistinguishable from active people who have worked all along. ,

What does all this mean? Perhaps it means that a careless and happy-go-lucky nation has finally settled down to realization that it has a tremendous job to do, and come hell or high water-which indeed are already visible-the job is going to be done. Here at last is a task and an opportunity worthy of this nation. And greater even than the task is the spirit in which it is tackled.

It's not only old iron that is being melted down now in the junk furnaces. A lot of other stuff, not material but no less real goes into the fire. Any thoughtful person, with a little historic imagination, could make an interesting list of guesses.

The French Revolution a century and a half ago was the first great upset of modern times. Anyone who reads Carlyle's book on that theme gets a vivid sense of what that event meant in the upsetting of old forms and ways of life and government, in new ways of thinking, in new ideas of man and modes of government and human relations in general. The change seemed to be confined first to one country, and then to a small group of countries, but its influence spread throughout the western world.

The present war, virtually covering the planet and affecting all nations at once, should have far greater effects on people's thought and behavior, and the changes should come far more quickly.

BONDS AND TAXES

The American people are not yet buying enough bonds. One reason for this may be the delay about the tax bill. Many prudent folks have been putting money in the bank, afraid to make much expenditure for anything until they know the worst. When they find out how much the government is going to take from them next year, they will set aside that amount first, then buy bonds in good measure and manage to live on whatever may be left.

If this theory be sound, the announcement of the completed tax bill, no matter how bad It is, will at first slow up the bond stream, and then let loose a torrent of bond buying.

If it be not sound, and if the American people really are putting nearly everything they make over bare living into consumers goods, it is high time they stopped. Luxuries In the home will not win the war. But bonds in the safe deposit box will help a great deal, pilcations arise. Unfortunately often a serious complication occurs in which immediate operation becomes necessary yet the patient has experienced no special symptoms that would make him report to his physician.

In Archives of Surgery, Dr. A. W. Allen, Bostons tates that the complication of ulcer usually occurs in a part of the stomach or intestine that gives no warning of being active, or involved in the disease, until massive bleeding, perforation, stoppage in the upper and lower opening of stomach, and uncontrollable symptoms, occur. For acute perforation (where ulcer makes a hole in the wall of the stomach or intestine) simple closure of the hole combined with proper after care is all that is needed.

The patient with massive bleeding must be placed in hospital immediately. In a patient under 45, the bleeding will stop of itself, and after complete recovery operation is advised. Patients with massive bleeding more than 45 years of age must undergo operation within 70 hours after the beginning of the bleeding. It after three days, operation should not be performed.

Up for Settlement at 1 P.M.; Three Games Are Scheduled

The twice-postponed softball play-off featuring St. Josephs and

This important post-season playoff was scheduled for two weeks ago but rain called a halt to the proceedings. Last week the softball players turned their attention or listened to the outcome of the 1942 World Series between the Cardinals and Yankees. This week the World Series question has been decided, but definitely, and the promises good weather for Sunday so it looks as though this drawn-out event will finally be decided at Forsyth Park tomorrow As was the schedule two weeks ago St. Josephs and St. Peters will play the entire three-game series in one day. A good turn-

Football Strain

The strain of three consecutive seasons of football, two at Boston College and last year's campaign in which Notre Dame was undefeated, was believed by Leahy's friends as responsible for his physical collapse. They said he had conducting afternoon practices. Leahy is the third Notre Dame coach since 1929 to be stricken. The late Knute Rockne missed most of the 1929 season—the year Leahy was playing tackle on the varsity because of illness.

In 1932, Heartley (Hunk) Antreated at the Mayo clinic but he returned in time for the fall grid

Kingston High Eleven Will Meet Port Jervis Team Here Next Friday Under Stadium Lights

Although the 1942 edition of the Berardi 125 141 157 147 266 under way until next Friday night Pontiacs had Emil Boessneck in J. Burns 139 146 105 390 here in Kingston at municipal stadium, there's plenty of interest in 684 748 627 2059 today's big contest going on at Poughkeepsie between the Bridge man's Gobeo-less Middletown High

Of course, this contest has no bearing on any league title as 619 575 680 1874 Poughkeepsie is still on the outside looking in. However, the Sammy Kalloch gridders, always a D. Peterson 121 86 124 331 tough bunch for any DUSO League team, will be out to serve notice that the loop clubs aren't 235 so great after all. Before Tony Gobeo was declared 763 713 620 2096 ineligible due to the age limit of 19, the strong Middletown team would have gone in today's con-Osterhoudt 123 ... 123 Barkow 145 126 154 425 test as heavy favorites to take Augustine 150 135 121 406 some of the sting out of Bough keepsie's great team. Since that time, howev-78 142 er, the Sox, it is said, gave Hempe the okay to play football due to 678 596 685 1959 the uncertainty of baseball in

Hempe may be the answer to Kalloch's prayer that the Bridge City club continues its great home 578 streak which is unmarred since 181 455 1937. Hempe certainly will be a Blind 125 125 250 triple-threat to Middletown with-672 765 744 2181 out Gobeo. Still, Johnny Bateman, the likeable Middie boss, has instructed his boys not to think too 343 deeply about Tony's loss. Friday Bateman used Bob Diaz and Johnny Newman while Ray Clemmer took over at Diaz' post at fullback. Both Diaz and Newman are good ball toters and although Gobeo's loss will be a hard one to forget, they should fill the bill for

State Farm Agent Goes on Survey Of Farm in Area

S. R. Shapley, assistant state county agent leader, from the cen tral office of the Farm Bureau at Ithaca, with T. N. Hurd of the department of agricultural economics and farm management, and Joseph King of the U. S. Employment agency at Albany met in conference with Ulster County Farm Burcau Agent Albert Kurdt Thursday and later called on a number of farmers around the county.

They are making an appraisal of conditions on the farm, with reference to what has been done this past season, what problems have been encountered and what questions most urgently need consideration in preparation for next year's activities.

After making some further surey about the county today they will continue the work in Orange, Columbia and Dutchess counties, later submitting a report of liner findings to the New York State Agricultural Defense Committee.

Thursday night they met with members of the Ulster County Form Labor Committee, the meeting tolice. Ithaca, with T. N. Hurd of the de-

It was brought out that about two-thirds of the New York city hoys who came to Ulster county to help in picking apples praved to be as satisfactory as could be expected, considering their lack of familiarity with the work and absence of any training. Of the other one-third, the designation apparently would run from bad to not very good.

This question is one of the big problems to be considered carefully and some methods worked out to meet it another year. One of the greatest lacks that developed in reference to employing these city boys, was that of proper supervision and satisfactory housing accommodations, with some provision occupying their spare in air raid shelter.

"He line your cold feet, Roscoe"

Handeuffed to a Journal-Imerican reporter. Robert Irwin, the mad sculptor, confessed the slaving of Ronnie Gedeon, her mother and a arder. Read the true inside stary of that argy of death... told by a Police Reporter?

THIS SUNDAY:

Now, the New York Journal American reveals

how New York Police Reporters helped solve celebrated crimes that electrified the country . . . explains the methods used to trap notorious criminals—and get the Mory!

St. Josephs Meets Te first report meeting of the St. Peters Sunday At Forsyth Park

> Catholic Softball Title Is Up for Settlement at 1 P.M.; Three Games Are Scheduled

> The twice-postponed softball

rark Sunday atternoon at 1 o'clock,
This important post-season playoff was scheduled for two weeks ago but rain called a halt to the proceedings. Last week the softball players turned their attention to baseball and either attended failing to register.

This week the World Scries the updated has been decided, but definitely, and the weatherman promises good weather for Sunday so it looks as though this drawn-out event will finally be decided at Forsyth Park tomorrow afternoon. As was the schedule two week ago St, Josephs and St, Peters will play the entire three-game series in one day. A good turnout of fans is expected to watch this softball marathon, or listened to the outcome of the 1942 World Series between the Cardinals and Yankees, This week the World Series question has been decided, but Rummage Sale Diay-off featuring St. Josephs and St. Peters of the Catholic Softball League will be played (league officials hope) at Forsyth Park Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

other neighboring towns and villeges who would gather at the recreational center every other Friday night where two bands furnished music for dincing, both papular and old-fashioned, also have gone to serve their country. The fuel situation has made it necessary to close the church and transfer week-day Masses to the chapel in the rectory. The perpetual Novena devotions in honor of St. Ann which were held every Friday evening, must now be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock since Sunday is the only day the churches of Sawkill and Ruby are heated. Masses are at the same hour, 8:30 o'clock in Ruby and 10 o'clock in Sawkill.

Efforts have been made by the parish going but since whole families have moved away for defense work conditions grow more unfavorable.

While the former program of two dances a month had to be abandoned, the church will try to carry on a monthly concert and also the custom of having a band on Halloween and Thanksgiving Day nights. The future of the parish depends entirely upon the success of those affairs.

constant action that his entire fleet is badly in need of rest and overhauling.

It will take him from now until spring to repair the damage and replace the losses. Indeed it's quite likely the intervening six months won't give him the time he needs especially since he may be called upon to conduct large-scale operations, both defensive and offensive, during the next few months. The cold fact is that Hitter made a grand contribution to the Allied cause when he tied such a great portion of his airforce to infantry operations in the Caucasus. Of course, he is gambling greatly at a decisive moment in the war. If he made a quick kill and swept down through the Caucasus into the middle east, thereby securing the oil and other supplies and threatening the whole structure of the British hold on the Mediterranean, he would have gone far toward winning the war.

On that basis history may say appreciate donations of furniture dishes and other articles. Truck Service for Mail today announced that there would be a curtailment in motor truck service on the mounted delivery toward winning the war.

On that basis history may say his Russian gamble was justified
but the fact remains that in the exertions of his now-or-never spring the Fuehrer has spiked himself badly.
